

Anglo-German Law Journal

Call for Papers

The Anglo-German Law Journal is looking for authors for its 2023 edition!

The Anglo-German Law Journal has been published by the Anglo-German Law Society e.V. since 2015 with the aim of fostering the exchange between scholars, practitioners, and students from Germany and the UK.

Topics

The academic articles (max. 6000 words excl. footnotes) should focus on topics of comparative law issues or current developments in Germany and the UK but can also deal with European law. Case notes are welcome.

Find our past issues at <https://aglawsoc.org/aglj/> and at HeinOnline.

Language

Articles may be submitted in English or German. This offers a great opportunity for communication and cultural exchange.

Why become an author?

As an Anglo-German law author, you are offered the opportunity to make your opinion heard. The journal would like to give especially early career researchers and students the opportunity to publish. This way, you can make your Bachelor, LLM/Master or excerpts of your PhD thesis available to a wider audience. You will also be awarded 30€ upon successful publication.

Publication

Your articles will be subject to a peer review to maintain a high quality of works for the journal. The journal will be available as print and online versions. Print versions are distributed to universities in the UK and Germany. The next volume will be published in autumn 2023.

Deadline for submission is 31 July 2023

Please submit your article by uploading it (in both PDF and Word format) via this link:

<https://www.manuscriptlink.com/journals/aglj>

You can find more information here

...you can submit your article via this link

If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact us at aglj@aglawsoc.org!