

EULab Summer School on Labour Migration in the EU

Third Edition
26 June – 6 July 2023
University of Napoli 'Federico II'
Department of Law

Call for applications
NEW Deadline: 10 June 2023

EULab is the Summer School on Labour Migration in the European Union organised by the Department of Law of the University of Napoli Federico II, with the Institute for Research on Innovation and Services for Development of the National Research Council of Italy (CNR-IRISS). It is open to students (getting their degree immediately after EULab) and postgraduate students in the fields of Law, International Relations and Social Science who intend to develop a solid knowledge on labour migration to Europe from the specific lens of international and EU law.

EULab promotes an interdisciplinary approach to labour migration issues. Tuition in the context of the Summer School will combine strictly legal perspectives with the insights of practitioners from non-legal areas, and the interactive settings of workshops will nurture debates among students from different fields.

The main venue of the 2023 Edition of EULab is the Department of Law of University of Napoli Federico II. EULab 2023 will take place from the 26 June to the 6 July 2023. Remote participation will take place through MS Teams.

EULab 2023 Teaching Activities

Participants will be involved in activities from Monday 26 June to Thursday 6 July with more than forty teaching hours covering 4 main modules:

1. The European Pillar of Social Rights (coordinated by Prof. F.M. Palombino)
2. Migrant Workers' Socio-Economic Rights (coordinated by Dr. G.C. Bruno)
3. Focus: Agriculture (coordinated by Dr. G. Ciliberto)
4. Focus: Domestic work (coordinated by Prof. F. Staiano)

Each day, lectures and seminars will be delivered not only by the EULab member in charge of the respective module, but also by distinguished scholars, practitioners, policy makers and other stakeholders. Guest lecturers will contribute to debates and discussions on practical case studies during seminars and workshops.

Participants will gain a comprehensive understanding of the multilevel legal framework governing labour migration in the European Union, combined with a deeper knowledge of the areas of agriculture and domestic work. Besides, students will become aware of the gaps between, on the one hand, socio-economic rights recognized to migrant workers under international and EU law and, on the other, their actual enforcement in the everyday reality.

Who can apply?

Students (getting their degree immediately after EULab) and postgraduate students in the fields of Law, International Relations and Social Science, interested in deepening their knowledge on labour migration to Europe from the specific lens of international and EU law.
